

You Are What You Drink

TAKE IT FROM THIS GUY — LIKE IT OR NOT, YOU ARE JUDGED BY WHAT YOU ORDER...

Jager Bombs

(College students exempt)
Grow up. For real. No self-respecting adult orders this drink. You're the same guy who loud-talks, high-fives - a lot - and if it weren't for booze, you wouldn't be getting any.

Appletinis, Chocofinis or anything ending in "tini"

A follower — the worst kind. You order these drinks putting on airs like you chose the drink all by yourself. You read somewhere that so-and-so likes to drink blah-blah-tinis, so now you do, too. And please, stop saying "tini." It's really hard to hear.

Beer

Chicks who drink good beer? That's my girl. You are probably fun to go out with, tolerate or even like football, and can hang out and enjoy a barbecue. If you're a no-carb, light beer drinker, you're probably going to be deemed annoying and high-maintenance. And by the way, it's called a beer gut for a reason, so you're really not doing yourself a favor. Guys who drink beer? That's what we do.

Wine

There are people who like wine and people who want to be perceived as people who like wine. The type who likes wine may not be the most exciting guy or girl in the room, but is typically a solid person who probably also likes good food and vacations involving sightseeing and culture.

People who like to be perceived as people who like wine are the worst — know-it-alls that really don't know a thing. I may have "accidentally" served one of these types a Chianti instead of a Cotes du Rhone, and guess what? They never knew. This is the kind of person you don't want to disagree with about anything on any subject.

Any spirit neat or on the rocks

Someone who has developed a taste for something and enjoys it. This person probably has a good job, watches a lot of sports, vacations in fun, but typical locales and probably stays faithful to their spouse, but has quite a wandering eye.

Jack-and-Coke guy

Under 30. Realizes he's out of college and needs to be weaned off bad keg beer and shots of Goldschläger, but hasn't really developed a taste for anything new. Probably at his first real job and in his first real relationship, and pretty soon he will be ready for his first real drink. You can also call him "gin-and-tonic" or "vodka-cranberry" guy/girl.

So, the next time you're out, think twice about that Jager Bomb or Appletini. And by the way, behave yourself, don't get sloppy, tip well and we'll forget all about what you were drinking.

► ET is the bar manager at Jones Hollywood, as well as the owner of Dirty Sue premium olive juice (DirtySue.com) and The Seat Saver, the better coaster (TheSeatSaver.com).